Global Trends of BRICS Energy Development in the Digital Era

According to experts, digital solutions in the field of corporate management, information processing and industrial operation will have a significant impact on the development of energy industry in the XXI century. Especially, it seems crucial to define correctly the global tendencies of the digitalization of energy for early adaptation of the industry to the changed market conditions and increasing competitiveness. The BRICS countries have the greatest potential for introducing advanced digital practices in the fuel and energy sector, but are BRICS able to get a synergistic effect from working together to explore the possibilities of digitalization of energy?

BRICS Youth Initiatives: Energy as a New Development Horizon

Public institutions all with great interest study the prospects of youth initiatives, promoted on the pure enthusiasm of young teams of like-minded people. Such projects develop dynamically and know no borders, uniting young people from different countries. Youth projects within BRICS are developing rapidly in a wide range of spheres: economy, culture, civic cooperation, uniting the BRICS countries and creating common cultural values. Additional impetus to an integration in the energy sector of BRICS could also be given by youth initiatives, in particular the BRICS Youth Energy Agency. What initiatives are the public institutions and the youth willing to offer for the development of BRICS youth energy cooperation?
